NOTES

Born 30 March 2346, the youngest of four children in rural Cuba outside the town of San Cristobal. Miguel's father, Marco, is a contractor employed largely by the Star Line Ship Yards of Mars. Marian, his mother, is a homemaker. Ignacio and Jorge, his brothers, work for their father while his sister, Olga, is a junior administrator of Tycho City, Luna.

A curious person by nature, Miguel is a mythology buff and very interested in Atlantis. He does enjoy heavy thrash music in his spare time, much to the displeasure of some of his shipmates.

Miguel's first tour was a four year tour in deep space. He has proven himself capable, and risen through the ranks quickly. Upon his return he immediately reenlisted and assigned to the Nautilus. He is soon expected to make section chief and oversee an enlisted personnel in Operations. Miguel spends most of his time on the bridge. Innovative, good at mathematics and a quick problem solver; Miguel is often picked to be part of away missions.

Quite reserved when first meeting, but opens up soon and is quick to make friends; the two closest to him being [to be determined] and [to be determined]. Miguel had a brief romantic interest in [to be determined], but she was not ready for a shipboard romance so they remain only friends.
