

HIROGEN TALON

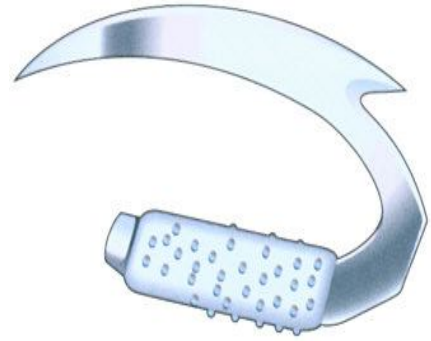

Size: 50 cm long

Mass: 2.5 kg

Accuracy: 8

Block: +1

Damage: 2d6+4

The talon is a wickedly curved blade used by the Hirogen as a melee weapon of choice; equally vicious and capable in combat as it is in the retrieval of trophies from prey at the conclusion of the hunt.

First encountered in the Delta Quadrant; although it is known that the extensive travels and sphere of influence of the Hirogen has extended deep into the Beta Quadrant, near the far side of Romulan space.

With a social structure organized around hunting packs lead by an Alpha, status within a pack is determined by prizes obtained during a hunt. A hunters' talon is often one of his prized possessions and few Hirogen are encountered not carrying his talon at his waist.