

DROCH BEETLE, FERENGI

Description and Notes

Small Ferengi insect which burrows under the skin and feeds on the blood of its victim. Among Ferengi these insects merely inflict annoying bites and drain victims of their stamina. Believed to be the source of a horrible pestilence (Fever Plague) among non-Ferengi, which has gripped several outlying colonies and starports coreward.

Special/Unusual Skills

None. Infested persons take 1 point of damage per day (2 points after five days). Fever Plague takes 1d6 points of damage.
